

Journal of International Banking Law and Regulation

2014 Volume 29 Issue 4
ISSN: 1742-6812

Table of Contents

Articles

AMINAH ABDULLAH AND IQBAL
KHADAROO

Addressing the Financial Crisis: Perceived Effectiveness of Basel III 135

This paper uses an interest based political economy framework to analyse how the Basel III's capital and liquidity reforms were perceived and illustrates the socio-political tensions involved in the regulation of banks. Empirical evidence comes primarily from responses received by the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision (BCBS) from senior managers in the financial services sector. The findings suggest that Basel III may have the unintended consequence of contracting the money supply, stifling credit and economic growth, increasing the administrative burdens on both financial institutions and national regulators to comply, and shifting compliance costs to savers and borrowers.

DR DIMITRIOS K. ROUSSIS

The Sui Generis Legal Nature of the Hellenic Financial Stability Fund and its Capacity as Shareholder and Creditor of Credit Institutions 149

The Hellenic Financial Stability Fund has as a primary mission to support the public interest, to protect State property and especially the capital adequacy of Greek banking system, as reflected in Law 3864/2010. Into this frame, the Fund acts as shareholder of systemic credit institutions and creditor of the bank institutions under special liquidation. This article tries to present the sui generis legal nature of the Fund, the lex specialis that includes the Fund's general rights and duties and the suitable implementation of the general and specific law provisions that are directly or indirectly connected with the Fund's purpose.

WALTER STUBER

The New Rules for Payment Institutions and Payment Arrangements in Brazil 158

The Brazilian Monetary Council (Conselho Monetário Nacional—CMN) and the Central Bank of Brazil (Banco Central do Brasil—Bacen) issued, respectively, Resolutions Nos 4,282 and 4,283, and Circulars Nos 3,680, 3,681, 3,682 and 3,683, all dated as of November 4, 2013, and published in the Official Gazette of the Union (Diário Oficial da União—DOU) on November 6, 2013. These rules shall become effective 180 days following the date of their publication. instituting the initial regulatory framework which regulates the authorisation and operation of payment institutions and payment arrangements, comprising the Brazilian Payment System (Sistema de Pagamentos Brasileiro—SPB) in accordance with the principles established in Law No.12,865, of October 9, 2013. The main issues contained in these rules are outlined in this article.

ABUBAKAR GARBA

The Emergence of Islamic Banking in Nigeria: Constitutional and Other Legal Issues 166

The establishment of Islamic banking in Nigeria has met stiff rejection from some Nigerians including a religious group. The opponents of Islamic banking opposed the system on the grounds, inter alia, that it's contravenes the Nigerian Constitution and has no legal basis under the Nigerian banking laws. This paper examined the validity or otherwise of this claim. The paper also highlighted the operational principles of Islamic banking.

FERNANDO ZUNZUNEGUI

Mis-selling of Preferred Shares to Spanish Retail Clients 174

The distribution of preferred shares to retail clients in Spain is the greatest case of mis-selling of financial products. Despite its complexity and risk, they were offered by credit institutions, mainly savings banks and after the Lehman collapse, as an alternative to time deposits. After identifying the problem, this article reviews the applicable legal framework to propose changes to improve investor protection.

Legal Analyses

THOMAS G. ALBERT

Revised Regulations for Unclaimed Assets Lying Dormant in Switzerland and New Accounting Standards for Banks—Revision of Swiss Banking Ordinance en Route 187

The Swiss Federal Department of Finance initiated consultations on the total revision of the Banking Ordinance. New provisions for unclaimed assets lying dormant on Swiss bank accounts and amended accounting standards shall be implemented. The Swiss Financial Market Supervisory Authority (FINMA) initiated parallel consultations regarding the respective accounting circular in order to be in compliance with the revised Banking Ordinance. The entry into force is planned for January 1, 2015.

DR BERND M. GEIER AND DR STEFAN
HENKELMANN

New Regulatory Requirements for the Use of Derivatives in Structured Finance Transactions 191

The article outlines regulatory obligations imposed by the European Market Infrastructure Regulation (EMIR) and their impact on structured finance transactions. With some of the obligations EMIR introduces already being in force while others still need to phase in, future implications of EMIR for such transactions warrant thorough consideration already today. This article is based on S. Henkelmann and B. Geier, “EMIR—Auswirkungen auf Verbriefungstransaktionen (EMIR—impact on securitisations)” [2013] Risikomanager issue 19, 11 onwards.

News Section

Brazil

INVESTMENT FUNDS

Equity investment funds N-21

Cyprus

BANKING

Independent commission on future of banking N-23

United Kingdom

ADMINISTRATORS

Appointments N-24

United Kingdom

CORPORATE INSOLVENCY

Transaction—Insolvency Act 1986 s.238 N-25

United Kingdom

GUARANTEES

Composite guarantee N-26

United Kingdom

MARSHALLING

Non-competition clause in guarantee N-27

United Kingdom

PROCEEDINGS

Amendment of pleadings N-29